This event is for breeder's who have a limited outlet to merchandise their female production. Yes, all breeds are allowed. Now here's how it works. If you consign and bring your entries in 2009 you are grandfathered in for future Northwest Breeder's Fall All Breed Female Sales. Original consignors who miss more than 1 year of consigning will need to be on the buyer's list in order to sell the following year. If you DO NOT consign in 2009, the only way you can be a consignor in 2010 is that you must be on the buyer's list in 2009 and this is only good for 1 year. You will need then to be on the buyer's list each year after in order to continue consigning. Buy one, sell a truck load. So if you want to participate, you must act now in 2009 to insure you can participate in the future without being on the buyer's list. Yes, an event that you have total control on your eligibility of participation in the future. Act today to become part of this new & exciting way to merchandise your female production.

PLUS, you drop your consignments off at the sale site and your done. They will be fed, watered, sorted, sent through the ring and loaded out by the sale crew. You just relax, promote and socialize. No ranch signs, just one happy family. So be a part of the movers & shakers and plan today to participate in this Northwest Breeders All Breed Female Sale for 2009.
